Connecting Content with Consumers Volume 7 Issue 5

More untimely passing of Hollywood greats sadly influence our newsletter this week. The sudden death of Bill Paxton ironically occurred on the street date of our newest studio, SGL Entertainment and their Horror SciFi collection, "The Killer Sci Fi Pack" which also stars Mark Hamill and Klaus Kinski. We also bow our heads in respect for the face of Turner Classic Movies, Robert Osborne, who passed away on Monday, he will be sorely missed.

On more happier news, Allied Vaughn announced on Monday the launching of our Digital Distribution Services to support our content owners in the delivery and commerce of their titles through digital sales channels. More information here.

We are also pleased to welcome Random Media to the Allied Vaughn AV MOD Collection, leading off their releases with two new great films, "Pencils Down!" and "The Visit".

Another great week of new content, new studios and new opportunities for studio and retailer alike to maximize the potential of their titles!

Successful retailing to you all,

818522016528 Pencils Down DVD-5 2016 In 2007, the Writers Guild of America (WGA), the labor union that represents writers in the American television and movie industry, hit an impasse in their contract negotiations with the Studios. At the center of the dispute was jurisdiction over the Internet. Unable to make progress, the WGA called a strike, which brought Hollywood to a halt for 100 Days. Using a blend of ground level strike footage, one-on-one interviews with key industry figures, and historical Hollywood footage, the film not only explores the historical components surrounding the decision to grind Hollywood to a 100 day standstill, but also examines the issues in terms of the relevance for today's entertainment workers and those coming into the industry in the future. At its core, Pencils Down! The 100 Days of the Writers Guild Strike tackles the all-important question regarding this new frontier of entertainment accessibility: what is the industry business model for the Internet? Stars Harlan Ellison; Alan Rosenberg; Justine Bateman; Christopher Knopf; Miranda Banks

818522016535 The Visit DVD-5 2015 Aliens may not have visited Earth, but ever since the invention of radio and television, humans have been sending signals into outer space, announcing their existence to other civilizations, so the question is not 'what if' it happens, but rather 'when'. With unprecedented access to everyone from the Director of the United Nations Office for Outer Space Affairs to experts from NASA, ISU (International Space University), the SETI (Search for Extraterrestrial Intelligence) Institute, and military advisors, the film builds up a chillingly believable scenario of first contact on Earth, beginning with the simplest of questions: Why are you here? How do you think? What do you see in humans that we don't see in ourselves? The implications unfold within a mind-bending landscape of everyday sights and sounds turned bizarre and extraordinary, as if seen through the eyes of a life form exploring our planet for the first time. Acclaimed film director, Michael Madsen, takes viewers on a journey beyond their terrestrial perspective and into the unknown, revealing the fears, hopes, and rituals of a species forced not only to confront alien life forms that may or may not view us as a threat, but also its own self-image. Jacques Arnould; Paul Beaver; Dr. Sheryl Bishop; Lord Boyce; Dr. Ernst Fasan; Niklas Hedman; Christopher McKay; Mazlan Othman; John Rummel; Vickie Sheriff; Janos Tisovsky; Doug Vakoch; Chris Welch
