

Allied Vaughn Digital Distribution

Allied Vaughn's digital distribution programs are designed to provide content partners with access to major and new emerging digital retail channels, as well as developing new digital sales channels to bring your video content to highly trafficked websites that don't currently support digital video offerings.

We have developed the most cost effective, streamlined process to publish your digital video assets across all platforms and consumption methods. These programs provide a single process and a single point-of-contact for releasing your titles digitally - so that you can focus on your core business of acquiring and producing new programming for consumers.

The digital distribution landscape is a matrix of complex platforms, expanding international territories, and a myriad of different file codex, metadata specifications and artwork requirements. Consumers can now choose to watch and own titles as transactional sales or rentals, subscription video-on-demand, ad-supported video-on-demand, and new forms of consumption not yet in the general marketplace.

Allied Vaughn provides a turnkey service to manage the submissions, sales, marketing, commerce, reporting and payments for all your content in all these programs. The result is new business, new customers and new income from your content library.

Who We Are.

As one of the fastest growing and largest distributors of motion picture and television titles, we have relationships with hundreds of e-commerce, catalog, and physical retail merchants, including nearly every meaningful DVD and Blu-ray reseller in the United States. Allied Vaughn licenses and distributes over 10,000 films, TV series, special interest and audio titles from studios and networks including Warner Bros., Fox, MGM, Sony Pictures, Universal Pictures, CBS, National Geographic, and TCM. We are the marketing and distribution choice for a significant and growing collection of film, television, documentaries, sports, educational, and specialty content. Our unique and proprietary manufacturing and distribution process enables all retail channels to merchandise and sell our catalog without the investment, risks and constraints of the traditional distribution supply chains.

Here's what we do.

Ingestion and Launch

- We ingest your files, artwork and metadata into our Digital Content Management technology stack. And, we transcode your files to meet the specifications of each digital platform. All at no charge.
- We provide a dedicated Content Onboarding Manager who works with content partners to coordinate all the aspects of getting materials to us – and set up for launch.
- For transactional VOD (download to own and download to rent), we collaborate with our content partners to set the suggested selling price for each title.
- Allied Vaughn will announce and pitch your avails to over 50 digital platforms around the world.

Digital Platform Management

- We proactively feed new title information to our network of platforms via avails feeds, weekly emails and newsletters. We have dedicated sales staff who works with our sales channels to increase visibility and merchandising of your digital content on digital retail platforms.
- We run regular promotions on title collections in collaboration with you as a content partner. We tailor them as needed for maximum effectiveness with individual digital platforms. And, we administrate them so you don't have to.

Reporting and Royalties

- We report sales to content partners monthly, and pay royalties 60 days' post calendar quarter that monies are received.
- Royalties are % of the net revenue received from each digital sales channel. Net revenue is the selling price or rental price charged a consumer for download to own or download to rent, minus the fee retained by each platform on which your titles are made available to consumers. For Subscription VOD or Ad Supported VOD, Net Revenue is the per title usage fee, ad revenue or flat fee paid to Allied Vaughn by the platform for SVOD or AVOD usage.

Summary

- In short – we handle the entire process of taking your digital catalog of titles to market. Once you say yes – we do the rest. We write you checks and we manage the rest of the process so you can focus on adding new titles to your library.
